

Why post two unique articles before using ABS?

Posted by skymike - 2011/10/25 19:04

Hi Carty

I recall you said somewhere that, in setting up a blog, a couple of unique articles should be posted first before then posting using ABS. Please could you say why that is needed. I suspect it makes some difference with Google, but would be really interested to know if I really must have such articles in place first.

Cheers

Hi Skymike,

Yes, it is for Google - something for them to list your blog on, unique content as opposed to someone elses duplicate or reworded content.

Having a few unique posts as content is a must - otherwise, Google will just see your site as another auto blog which has no fresh content for visitors.
