Anyone have review on seo link robot software at seolinkrobot.com and how does this compare with senuke and xgen seo? I think this software is very good to promote the autoblogs.

Yes, it is a great software and I had been beta testing it for a while on a set of my auto blogs, the results are excellent. In fact, I sent an email to all my customers suggesting a buy.

It has (almost) all the features of SE Nuke and there are no monthly subscription fee involved. For a one time payment, I'm sure it will pay for itself in a very short time when used to promote automated blogs.

It look like you are promoting the seo link robot software with your affiliate link and we dont know whether you really use it with good result or not because this day we receive a lot a promote email telling that what tool or program is good and can get you good result without any proof.

I just talk it from my heart because waste to much money by believe on some guru but actually getting really poor or bad result by their recommendation tool or program.

Just like your fingers are of different sizes, not all gurus are the same. I don't call myself a guru, I just do something and if it works for me, I'll be happy to promote so my followers get benefited.

I'm not forcing you to buy dude, I have just told what works for me, the ultimate decision and choice is yours :)
