

Cannot Find: "Post All Marked Items" button

Posted by convergence - 2010/08/14 16:56

Ok, I'm, really starting to feel less than intelligent here. I have all of my feeds imported into ABS, I am able to post individual posts to my blog, but when I select all feeds, for the life of me, I cannot locate this "Post All Marked Feeds" button to be able to post everything at once. Can someone point me in the right direction.

From the manual:

"Once the items are downloaded, you can either choose individual items and post them to blog by using the Post to Blog button available at the Article Window or post a number of articles by marking them in the checkbox and pressing the Post all Marked Items button available at the Feed Items Window."

Also, the control panel for ABS does not appear to be displaying properly for me. Wording cut off and etc... My monitor resolution is 1920x1200, could this be an issue...

OK, I just found the button when I went to a screen resolution of 1024x768. Not there with my normal resolution of 1920x1200. Is there a fix for this that could be implemented fairly easily?

Thanks For The Help...
Convergence

Convergence, can you check the Dpi settings in your PC' Control Panel > Display settings option.. Is it set to the default 96dpi? If not, try changing to the default one and tell me if it helps.

Hi Carty, I went ahead and changed my font to 96DPI and also set the font to normal size instead of extra large. Although the ABS control panel does fit better on my screen, I still cannot see the "Post All Marked Feeds" button or the "STOP POSTING" button at the 1920x1200 resolution.

So far the only way I can see these buttons is to set my resolution to 1024x768, of course at that resolution with a 24" monitor my desktop only takes up 1/3rd of my monitor.

Thanks,

Ok, select a few items (put check marks). Resize the feed items window. You can drag the separator line between the feed items window and article pane window. Once you resize it, tell me if it the button appears.

Sorry, I guess I should have told you I'd already tried that, but I checked again and no, I still can't see the "Stop Posting" or the "Post All Marked Feeds" The only way I'm able to is to use lower resolutions...

Thanks

Carty, how simple would it be to throw up a couple of menu items for these functions?

Noted down :) Expect in my next release. I'm thinking of adding it to the right click context menu..

PS: I would appreciate a screen capture of the software in higher resolutions so I could determine what all gets cut off.

Carty..
