My income from 36 blogs is close to 5K last month (August '10). A lot of my customers are earning a decent income too. Some making even a double digit income with just a single blog per day from Adsense !

Carty..

What is considered a good quality blog? I would surmise it would be one which is earning or converting well.

In that vein, Carty could you post for us a link to one of your better earning blogs so we can see what a good quality blog looks like?

If you want to be rich for the rest of your life, leave the pretty blogs up on the shelf and keep all the UGLY ones for yourself Page rank doesn't mean much when it comes to monetizing a blog but it doesn't hurt to have some.
