

Suggestion for the next version update

Posted by Barry - 2010/09/01 08:55

Hi Nick and everyone else!

I have a suggestion for the next ABS update, Nick.

It would be really cool to have a facility on each blog in the ABS system whereby it informs you of when the last scheduled post for that blog will take place. Something like 'Posts scheduled until 21/09/10'

As blogs are added at different frequencies and posts are scheduled at different frequencies, this would save a lot of time manually checking each blog. :)

=====

Re: Suggestion for the next version update

Posted by Carty - 2010/09/02 15:12

Sounds good but will be really helpful? I mean, say you select 50 posts in a mix of 5 blogs, after the posting is over, you want the message prompts like blog 1 last post date and so on?

Are those prompts really necessary?

Regards,
Carty..

=====

Re:Suggestion for the next version update

Posted by Barry - 2010/09/04 23:09

Well, I am not the most organised or people and the autoblogging project is one of a few I have running. I find that, sometimes I have neglected a blog and that there has been no content scheduled to post for a while. So I thought it would be useful to have a reminder.

Just thought it would be a good reminder to have on each blog the info of when the content will need refilling. Bit like a fuel guage. It could just be in the form of a hover-over. put the cursor over the blog name to display what the date of the last scheduled content post will be or something. Saves going into the blogs and looking in the scheduled posts section all the time.

I know, if I were more organised I would simply update all feeds and post all to the blogs each week.

=====

Re:Suggestion for the next version update

Posted by Carty - 2010/09/05 05:28

There was another customer requesting the same feature. I was a bit on the fence with this feature thinking if it would really help. Since I'm getting a second request now, I will definitely add in the upcoming versions.

I'm planning to have a separate page in the software like 'Blog Schedules' accessible under 'Tools' menu and the page will simply display all the blogs with the last post schedule time. You can also sort it out to find the blog that requires most attention easily.

Regards,
Carty..

=====

Re:Suggestion for the next version update

Posted by SEORumer - 2010/09/05 11:59

I have a few suggestions:

1. Add "Text Justify" to the editor
2. If possible to add products from Amazon the same way as images from Flickr, videos from YouTube. For example: I created a video games review site and after or before the review I put the Amazon video game.

Also, I get extra white spaces/brakes when posting. Why is that happening? Probably I do something wrong.

ABS is on my top 5 list of software and I love it. It's a money making machine :)

Thanks

=====

Re:Suggestion for the next version update

Posted by Liberum - 2010/09/05 14:16

Regarding the Amazon option, I just read a post about it on this forum. You can find it here:

<http://webmagnates.org/community/blogging/auto-blogging-software/a-nice-tip-for-wordpress-autoblogs.html#1461>

=====

Re:Suggestion for the next version update

Posted by 777services - 2010/09/06 03:02

Carty wrote:

There was another customer requesting the same feature. I was a bit on the fence with this feature thinking if it would really help. Since I'm getting a second request now, I will definitely add in the upcoming versions.

I'm planning to have a separate page in the software like 'Blog Schedules' accessible under 'Tools' menu and the page will simply display all the blogs with the last post schedule time. You can also sort it out to find the blog that requires most attention easily.

Regards,
Carty..

Consider it request #3. I would like this feature also. Thanks.

=====