If you press the insert button, what exactly happens? Even if the video isn't inserted, try publishing that post and tell me if it appears on your blog at least.

I did a test post but the video does not appear.

Just in case there was a firewall - i made an exception at

Control PanelSystem and SecurityWindows FirewallAllowed Programs

to allow access. But it is still the same

And i can also access youtube on my pc ..... <http://www.youtube.com/rss/tag/baby%20eggs.rss>

I am on windows 7 and ABS build 550

Ok... i can pull in youtube now.

For some strange unknown reason, i cannot use my mouse to click any of the youtube selection.

After typing in the keyword and getting a list of youtube video, i am unable to use the mouse. I have to use the keyboard up/down arrow keys and when i select one that i like i have to use the keyboard right key to place it into the preview panel and then enter to insert it.

Very weird. :silly:

Seriously weird :)

Can you try after a system restart? Does your mouse just hangs there on searching for videos? Becomes active after you close the video insertion module?

It is still buggy.

I have to use the keyboard key to make the selection. Use the up/down arrow to highlight the video but the preview will always stay at the first video.

And also despite what ever selection made, only the first video can be inserted.

Even if you select a different video and press insert, just the first video is inserted? Can you please check again and update..
