

hum.. Nicks

Posted by Mlk - 2010/10/01 09:05

I have screened through your document attachment. It really much help.

But I have a lot of problem to get a start up with paid hosting wordpress as you recommend.
If when I wish to use a paid hosting wordpress, what should be the index.html first page should look like?

Will I have to a general site or what should be? I have no ideas, please. There are no such suggestions in your attach file.

And the problem still exists when I try first post some rss feed to my free blogger, the software seem can't read some page, and it apologized for not being read, and the message exist on the page it posts to blog. If this problem exist as the same the paid hosting account, that would not cure for the last.

Are there any suggestions of how to do?

=====