

software quit runnning

Posted by vnsmalley - 2010/10/01 17:05

The program quit running last week, will only show the start ad and then goes to my bottom bar. Have requested numerous times for help with no response?? What happened to your willingness to help us??

I have just contacted support as I seem to have the same problem. Opens to taskbar but cannot open to page to use.

Thanks, the software works great. Need a more complete and simple manual or videos on using WordPress and also Blogger. Do we add plugins, can we use ready to use adsense programs which most of us have???

I have solved Vic' issue as when he sent me an email. Dean, if you have purchased Auto Blog Samurai (rebranded version), please contact your own support team.

And yes Vic, you can add all the plug-ins you would add on a regular blog.

Also, check out the second page in my 7-Day action plan thread for the top plug-ins I use.

Regards,
Carty..

Hey Carty

Cheers for that, I do have the original version. Have e-mail to support again today,

Thanks
Dean

This is confusing too? Do some of you have answers and others do not? They must not be for the same thing. Are they for different issues? If so, that means if there is no answer yet, there is no response. Having nothing to say is the number one reason for avoiding the phone and being "out of the office" when someone shows up.

People are so funny - they are perfectly happy to wait longer if they get regular reassurances so they know they weren't forgotten. Sounds like there is a market for a new piece of software to plug-in to all the help desks that don't have that sort of feature built in. .
