

Spun eZine Articles ?

Posted by WebSolutions 4 All.co.uk - 2010/10/12 11:33

Hi,

In ABS, you can add content > article directories > update feed ...

When you've gathered a number of articles in the main window, should you submit these for posting or is it recommended that you spin them to make them unique to yourself (or rewrite them) ?

How many articles do you recommend submitting a day or per week ?

Regards
Jane

=====

Re: Spun eZine Articles ?

Posted by WebSolutions 4 All.co.uk - 2010/10/15 11:20

And in addition to the original post, can anyone recommend or suggest how you start to setup your first lot of article type posts - the original content you've written - i.e. how do you keep churning out regular new posts other than spinning stuff you've already posted - is there any rights or wrongs in setting up your first set of say 7 content posts ?

Finding it difficult explaining what I mean on this one - the trouble I'm having is actually writing some good content to get things going on a blog - obviously further down the line, you can get articles and rewrite them I presume but at the start, when you've no content and you're struggling coming up with a few topics on the same blog product, how do people manage ?

Hope someone can help out or advise on this and also comment on the first post - pretty please :)

Jane

=====