

[Improvement] Show a Post Preview

It would be awesome to be able to preview the post before we actually schedule it for posting to remove any potential errors. Maybe having a separate window that would show us how the post looks like in HTML so we know it will look ok in the blog.

Yes, in my next version, you can expect a WYSIWYG styled editor within the software so you could do all sorts of formatting as well to these posts instead of just having a preview :)

When can we expect a new new version? Right now I am still debating if that will be a useful tool for me so I'd like to see more before and make a decision ;)
