

Software not posting feeds

Posted by aashokk - 2011/01/04 10:31

Software getting feed when i posting feed to my blogs they are not posting feeds even dashboard also admin please answer how to do

=====

Re:Software not posting feeds

Posted by SouthFloridaIM - 2011/01/05 01:49

two days it's missed my post times... doesnt post feeds, doesnt delete posts in que in software (even when "right clicked" upon), errors every time a video is embedded in a post feed, can't use it on my pc at work... said my key was invalid, tried to go to support and it brought me here... wf gave this tool rave reviews but i'm not feelin' it. whats the deal?

=====

Re:Software not posting feeds

Posted by Carty - 2011/01/10 15:44

The missed schedule is a problem within WordPress and there is a fix by installing a free plug-in. You can search for it in this forum.

For deleting, select multiple articles using Ctrl + Click and then press 'Del' key on your keyboard or the right click delete option.

Can you tell me the error while inserting a video?

I will look for your mails in the junk folder and get back to you asap.

Regards,
Carty..

=====

Re:Software not posting feeds

Posted by SouthFloridaIM - 2011/01/21 16:04

Hey Carty, I actually got everything to work fine except one thing. I was reading to far into the software, didn't actually think it was so simplistic... basically I didnt understand why there were two different buttons that say post to blog after you highlight the post you want to distribute and I didnt think I had to highlight every post I want to use if their all already checked. I havent actually tried to add videos myself, I just can tell when the article that is fetched had a video embedded in it when the post was retrieved, just looks like a jumbled mess of code. The feeds that are pulled into the system are just a string of errors in place of the video. It only takes a second to delete the error codes from the post where the video is supposed to be anyway. I'm not really sweatin it but it would be cool if I could get that paticular feature to work. I'll take a screen shot next time I see it and post it for you to see, once again, not really a big deal, text is what I really need. My only issue now is using the software when I'm at work... Installed it at home to figure it out, but I want to use it at work, thats why I bought it... It said my keys invalled here at work, it works fine from home, but right now its not running at home so there shouldnt be a conflict. Is there a way around this? Anyway, works very well... thanks for the tool. Saves a ton of time. I ended up being able to load up 70+ posts, scheduled and posted over two week period with minimal effort and minor edits. Very cool.

=====