

Is there a way to avoid TOS at Ezine?

Posted by kyhawk - 2011/01/05 21:16

I read thru the Terms of Service at Ezine and I admit it kind of worried me.

<http://ezinearticles.com/terms-of-service.html>

Is there a proper way to set up blog to avoid terms of service problem in the future?.

Right now I have my blogs feeds set up no brainer way.

Thru ezine.

Add feed...Using propreitary methods

add to blog

No content translation. (I think any translation will lose easy of understanding). I may be wrong about that.

Is there a best way to use translation function?

auto generate tags.. and nothing on advanced.

I live in US and the tos number 7 got my attention

If you violate any of the above terms of service and/or any author copyright when reprinting articles from our site, you agree to be held liable for all attorney fees and statutory damages awarded upon a copyright infringement lawsuit that may be brought against you. Please read Section 504(c)(2) (<http://www.copyright.gov/title17/92chap5.html#504>). You agree that any legal proceedings against you will occur in Brown County in the State of Wisconsin, USA.

I don't expect legal advice. I just want to keep ezine off my back. I may be paranoid I admit.

I apologize if this has been answered in a previous post.

Thanks for any help

=====

Re:Is there a way to avoid TOS at Ezine?

Posted by salvador - 2011/01/05 23:16

hi,

i suggest to skip ezinearticles on your blogs.

reason are the other tos statements, especially, that no more than 25 articles can be reprinted per year on a domain.

btw. as one must not change the article, translation can not be used, nor can you change title or whatever to make it appear more unique to search engines.

interestingly it is not allowed to develop derivative works. therefore mashing is out of scope too.

possible solution: if you like an article. why not take inspiration from it and write a new one.

just my opinion. regards,
thomas.

=====

Re:Is there a way to avoid TOS at Ezine?

Posted by Carty - 2011/01/10 15:53

That is true thomas. Usually a full rewrite is also not required, you could also add a single paragraph of your own suggesting a quote of the rest or so is also sufficient and it works very well for me.

Regards,
Carty..

=====

Re:Is there a way to avoid TOS at Ezine?

Posted by bobbydean - 2011/05/11 09:40

Carty wrote:

Usually a full rewrite is also not required, you could also add a single paragraph of your own suggesting a quote of the rest or so is also sufficient and it works very well for me.

Great tip. I will try that.

=====