

[Help]Some basic questions

Posted by chris8258 - 2010/03/29 20:06

---

I bought your software yesterday, I really like it so far. It's what I have been looking for for a long time. Anyways I'm new to the auto blog scene and I want to make sure I do things right. I'm doing just one blog per day like your tutorial says, and I'm also testing feeds on my local host to make sure they work right before I use them.

What I wanted to know was, do you have to translate your posts to be successful? If I just made blogs on blogger that had the full post just like the host blog with a link back to the source is that ok for the 100 per day plan?

Also if I use the translate, how will google feel if I'm mass translating posts say 2 months from now when I have a lot of blogs? Will they block me?

Last question, what is your proxy set up? When do you use them for this 100 dollar per day set up?

Forgive me but I'm just a nub when it comes to autoblogs and what's right and wrong.

=====

Re: [Help]Some basic questions

Posted by Carty - 2010/03/29 20:12

---

Hi Chris,

Welcome to Auto Blogging. If you translate your posts, they just become unique and that is why you're doing it. Google won't know if it is a translated post because the software won't be using Google's translate service.

You also don't need to use proxies at all! Just follow the plan with a regular IP address and make sure you don't post more than 3 articles per day on a blog. Everything else should be taken care of.

Regards,
Carty..

=====

Re: [Help]Some basic questions

Posted by chris8258 - 2010/03/29 20:17

---

Ok great. I have been doing 3 posts per day at 400 min apart. Thanks for your fast reply!

=====

Re: [Help]Some basic questions

Posted by sakinah - 2010/04/02 02:45

---

---

Here another basic questions. After I added blogs, how can I change blog details, such as password? How can also change "Post Option". I don't see any 'Edit Blog' function. I can only add new blog or remove blog.

=====

Re: [Help]Some basic questions

Posted by Carty - 2010/04/02 07:12

---

That's right. The edit Blog/Feeds function is coming up next week via auto-update.

Regards,
Carty..

=====