

getting rss feeds for blog

Posted by col - 2010/10/22 10:45

I have chosen vegetable gardening as my blog, and I chose a rss feed from syndic8, my question is do you need to change the content to make it original, as when I try to change from English to another language and back to English, I find a lot of the sentences don't make sense.

If I do leave it as original do you show credit to the author and just delete all their sales links.

Also if it's left as original is this not duplicate content then a problem? Have been stuck on this for a couple of sessions. Any direction would be helpful . Thanks Col

Re: getting rss feeds for blog

Posted by Carty - 2010/10/26 09:07

Col, if you have purchased Auto Blog Samurai, please contact your vendor for support.

Auto Blog Samurai is a rebranded version of my original software.

Regards,

Carty..

Re: getting rss feeds for blog

Posted by zombiemich - 2011/03/07 01:41

Hi Carty this is a question I've asked before. I did purchase your software. Can I get an answer on this?

Re: getting rss feeds for blog

Posted by Carty - 2011/03/14 09:13

Find foreign feed sources using Google Translated Search feature and add them with one level of translation for the best content.

Regards,

Carty..
